Subject: statement

Dear David,

Thank you for your recent letter asking the University to renew the commitment made last year re compulsory redundancy.

Having considered this request with my senior team, I believe than rather than make a statement annually, it would be preferable to commit to the following:-

Edinburgh Napier University will continue to work with the recognised Trade unions and staff to ensure that, where at all possible, we will not resort to the use of compulsory redundancy. Where there is no other option but to consider compulsory redundancy, we will work with all concerned to mitigate against the consequences for individuals. This is an on-going commitment on the part of the University.

I trust that you find this an acceptable statement and won't find the need to engage in an annual process.

Kind regards,

Joan Stringer
